DDI Alliance Controlled Vocabulary for TypeOfTelephone

CV definition

Identifies the type of telephone entered as contact information for an individual or an organization.

Details

CV short name:	TypeOfTelephone
CV name:	Type of Telephone

CV notes:

This vocabulary was first published by the DDI Alliance. Please see: https://ddialliance.org/controlled-vocabularies/all.

Language:	English (en)
Version:	1.0.1

Version notes:

To align with a new versioning system, this version has been automaticaly created by copying the previous version PUBLISHED-1.0.0.

Canonical URI:	urn:ddi:int.ddi.cv:TypeOfTelephone:1.0.1
Agency:	DDI Alliance

Code list

Code value	Code descriptive term	Code definition
Fixed	Fixed telephone	A telephone that transmits signals converted from audio data through physical media, such as wire or fiber optic cable; also known as landline.
Fixed.PersonalPrivate	Fixed telephone: Personal/Private	A fixed telephone belonging to a private person, usually located in a home or a private dwelling unit.
Fixed.OrganizationBusiness	Fixed telephone: Organization/Business	A fixed telephone of an organization, institution or business, or the work telephone of a person employed by the organization.
Mobile	Mobile telephone	A portable telephone connected to a wireless communications network through radio waves or satellite transmissions; includes phones known as cellular (or cell) phones, hand phones, as well as satellite phones.
Mobile.PersonalPrivate	Mobile telephone: Personal/Private	A mobile telephone belonging to a private person.
Mobile.OrganizationBusin	Mobile telephone:	A mobile telephone of an organization, institution or

Code value	Code descriptive term	Code definition
ess	Organization/Business	business, or the mobile work telephone of a person employed by the organization.
Fax	Fax	A fax (short for facsimile) is a device used for the telephonic transmission of scanned-in printed material (text or images), usually to a telephone number associated with a printer or other output device; also known as telecopying.
Fax.PersonalPrivate	Fax: Personal/Private	A fax belonging to a private person.
Fax.OrganizationBusiness	Fax: Organization/Business	The fax of an organization, institution or business, or the work fax of a person employed by the organization.
Other	Other	Use when the type of telephone is known, but not found in the list.

Deprecated codes list

Usage

DDI-L 3.3
Module name: archive
Element name: TypeOfTelephone

DDI-L 3.2
Module name: archive
Element name: TypeOfTelephone

DDI-C 2.5
DDI-Codebook (DDI 2.5 and all previous DDI versions) does not include an element or attribute that would support this controlled vocabulary.

Copyright and license

DDI Alliance Controlled Vocabulary for TypeOfTelephone

CV definition

Identifies the type of telephone entered as contact information for an individual or an organization.

Details

CV short name: TypeOfTelephone
CV name: Type of Telephone
CV notes:
This vocabulary was first published by the DDI Alliance. Please see: https://ddialliance.org/controlled-vocabularies/all.
Language: English (en)
Version: 1.0.0
Version notes:
Version changes:
Canonical URI: urn:ddi:int.ddi.cv:TypeOfTelephone:1.0
Agency: DDI Alliance

Code list

Code value	Code descriptive term	Code definition
Fixed	Fixed telephone	A telephone that transmits signals converted from audio data through physical media, such as wire or fiber optic cable; also known as landline.
Fixed.PersonalPrivate	Fixed telephone: Personal/Private	A fixed telephone belonging to a private person, usually located in a home or a private dwelling unit.
Fixed.OrganizationBusiness	Fixed telephone: Organization/Business	A fixed telephone of an organization, institution or business, or the work telephone of a person employed by the organization.
Mobile	Mobile telephone	A portable telephone connected to a wireless communications network through radio waves or satellite transmissions; includes phones known as cellular (or cell) phones, hand phones, as well as satellite phones.
Mobile.PersonalPrivate	Mobile telephone: Personal/Private	A mobile telephone belonging to a private person.
Mobile.OrganizationBusiness	Mobile telephone: Organization/Business	A mobile telephone of an organization, institution or business, or the mobile work telephone of a person

Code value	Code descriptive term	Code definition
		employed by the organization.
Fax	Fax	A fax (short for facsimile) is a device used for the telephonic transmission of scanned-in printed material (text or images), usually to a telephone number associated with a printer or other output device; also known as telecopying.
Fax.PersonalPrivate	Fax: Personal/Private	A fax belonging to a private person.
Fax.OrganizationBusiness	Fax: Organization/Business	The fax of an organization, institution or business, or the work fax of a person employed by the organization.
Other	Other	Use when the type of telephone is known, but not found in the list.

Deprecated codes list

Usage

DDI-L 3.3
Module name: archive
Element name: TypeOfTelephone

DDI-L 3.2
Module name: archive
Element name: TypeOfTelephone

DDI-C 2.5
DDI-Codebook (DDI 2.5 and all previous DDI versions) does not include an element or attribute that would support this controlled vocabulary.

Copyright and license